The Pure Food Laws

Are a blessing in many ways, but they don't go far enough. Unless your grocer is keenly alert and insistent upon quality and freshness, he may be as badly fooled now as before the enactment of the laws.

We don't depend wholly upon the law—we make our own demands for purity, and we see to it that they are complied with.

JULY EXPORTS BROKE RECORD

Excess of Exports Over Imports for Month Showed Great Difference Compared With Other Years.

[By Associated Press.]
Washington, Aug. 30.—Exports of the products of American farms and factories in July, valued at $267,978,996, were the greatest ever recorded in that month, the Department of Commerce announced Friday. The nearest approach to the new record was made in July, 1913, when American shipments abroad reached $160,090,773.

The trade balance for the month—the excess of exports over imports—was $124,879,370, compared with a balance of $21,928,008 in July, 1913. One year ago in July exports were less than imports by more than $5,000,000.

Exports for the first seven months of the year—valued at $1,969,787,495, gave a balance of trade in favor of the United States only a little short of a billion dollars. The total was $940,878,054, compared with $60,388,789 in the first seven months in 1914. July imports were valued at $143,099,629, compared with $159,677,291 last year; for the seven months, $1,008,909,441, against $1,140,593,273 one year ago.

The change in the flow of gold from East to West since the beginning of the war was emphasized by the department's figures showing gold exports in July of $2,191,735, compared with $33,669,424 in July last year, and imports last month of $17,262,938, compared with $3,391,715 in July, 1914. For the seven months there was a net inward gold movement of $152,415,212, contrasted with an outward movement of $83,508,822 in the same period last year.
